We have been making wine on our family estate since 1963 combining the best in traditional winemaking with our enthusiasm for innovation. Malbec and Tempranillo are grown on our own vineyards using the special "Parral" trellis system. The low-yielding Tempranillo vineyard leads the way for this grape variety in Argentina. Married with Argentina's signature Malbec, it makes a great example of our quest to blend heritage with modern flair.

BONARDA

"CACHIBACHÉ is a very intriguing word, used to describe something that is of little value to one man, but of great value to another. When our vineyard manager was searching for some vineyards to acquire in Mendoza a few years ago, he met an old man smoking his pipe under a tree, who owned a small and very old vineyard. For the owner, the vineyard had little value, as the old vines were producing very little quantity and very small bunches each year. He told our vineyard manager "it looks a cachibaché".

But this vineyard that was of such little value to its owner, represented the discovery of a real jewel for our winery, as its low yielding old vines produce some of the finest grapes in the Mendoza Valley."
